Field Study Hours: Log Form

All field study students are strongly encouraged to keep a log of the hours spent at their field placement site. This log DOES NOT need to be turned in to the Field Study Director, but should be kept with the student's own records. At the end of each quarter, field placement supervisors are required to evaluate the student's work at the placement; this evaluation includes a tally of the number of hours each student spent at the placement site. Students are encouraged to maintain this log, and to discuss their evaluation with their placement supervisor.
